

STEWARD'S SHIP

Outreach Exhibit

Steward's Ship is the Louisiana Children's Museum's new mobile outreach exhibit, part of the Living With Water program.

This exhibit is designed to highlight the ways that humans and animals have adapted to live within the volatile wetlands of South Louisiana. It helps us examine how we eat, the way we build our homes, the nuances of our behaviors, and even the way we look.

The ship is made of cypress wood and imitates the shape of a shrimp boat, showing how humans have historically learned to use the plants and animals available in our ecosystem for food and materials.
